

Typical business process for train making – Example: regional train services

From the train service idea until service entry of trains

➔ Value of stability of technical requirements (for authorization) of rolling stock from the beginning.

Planning certainty: Granted stable requirements until authorization are essential for reliability and competitiveness of rolling stock business

